

MPAKADAN GETS CLEAN WATER.

PROJECT BY CODE57 & SIBLINGS KEEPER

About the Community

Mpakadan is a place with a very small population in the region of Volta, Ghana which is located in the continent of Africa. Mpakadan has a population of over 600 people with the average age between 2-75years. Most people are farmers and their major crop is cassava.

The Problem

The people of Mpakadan lacks clean water. Although the community has a borehole that supplies them with water, it is not save for drinking and domestic use. Measures taken to fix this problem has proven futile. They walk miles away to search for clean water to drink. The problem is dire has posed great threat to thier health.

The Solution

Code57 in partnership with Siblings Keeper Foundation fix the problem by providing the people of Mpakadan with clean water safe for drinking and personal use in line with the sustainable development goal 6.

The duo has restored smiles in the faces of the community. This sustainable will also improve the health status of the community as water is life.

The partners are committed to Nation Building and transforming lives.
